CELEBRATE BLACK HISTORY MONTH

DIRECTOR'S UPDATE

As we honor Black History Month, our students and teachers are engaging in learning experiences that celebrate the rich history, achievements, and cultural contributions of Black Americans. This important work will also be reflected in upcoming performances and events across the district, highlighting the power of the arts to educate, inspire, and bring our community together. The district is proud to sponsor opportunities for students to share their voices and creativity, and we look forward to showcasing this meaningful work in the future—stay tuned!

Students in grades K-12 are invited to have their work featured at a future event or in our collection celebrating student writing and creativity. Click this link for more detailed information about student submission guidelines: <https://newburghschools.org/news.php?storynum=7055>

We also encourage families to support their children by attending the many upcoming Fine and Performing Arts events throughout the district. Your presence helps celebrate students' hard work and reinforces the important connection between our schools and community.
